

McDonald's Social Story

This social story was used with a class that was taking a field trip to McDonald's. They were working on manners and social skills. They read the book together as a group; then they worked on sequencing the story with the sequence cards.

The smaller set of sequence cards are to be used with the sequence strip (I use Velcro to attach). The larger set of sequence cards are to be used with the group.

I print everything on card stock and laminate. The pages to the book can be cut apart, I use a ring to hold them together; but you could bind the pages together as well.

For the sequence strips, I add Velcro to hold the pictures on the strip.
