

You are doing something against the classroom and school rules. The teacher asks you to stop. You don't. When you do it again, the teacher gets very upset and immediately sends you to the office to talk the principal. What is the best way to react to this situation? What is the worst way to react to this situation?

You are outside and two kids start throwing balls at you. What is the wrong way to react? Demonstrate it. What would be the best way to react to this situation?

You are doing an assignment that is difficult for you, but you are trying your very best. Two kids keep teasing you and making fun of you and calling you names. You ask them to stop. They don't. What is the most appropriate way to react to this situation? Tell me what you shouldn't do.

You are given a group assignment but someone in the group continues to mess up and then the whole group has to start over. What is the worst way to treat this person? Demonstrate it. What is the best way to react? Demonstrate this as well.

You are lining up to go to lunch and two other students cut in front of you. The teacher does not notice. Tell me the wrong way to react to this situation? What is the best solution to this problem?

Your teacher is giving directions for a new assignment. You do not understand what the teacher wants you to do? Tell me the best thing to do in this situation? What is the wrong way to react to this situation?

Another student keeps trying to talk to you while you are working at your desk. It is distracting and making it difficult for you to finish your work. Tell me the worst way to react to this situation? What is the best solution to this problem?

You see a group of kids at recess playing a game you like. You really want to join them. Demonstrate a good way to ask if you can play with them. What should you not do?

Your teacher has asked you to pair up with another student to complete an assignment. How do you ask someone to be your partner? Show me. What would not be a good thing to say.

Your teacher has given you a timed test. You really have to use the bathroom. What should you do? What should you not do?

Your best friend is gone today. You feel lonely at recess and want to play with another group of children but you are afraid to ask if you can join them? Demonstrate two possible ways you could approach them. Tell me two things you should not do in this situation.

You are not invited to a birthday party that someone in your class is having and it makes you feel bad. What should you do? What should you not do?

Another student accidentally bumps into you and makes you drop your pencil and it rolls away. You are upset. Describe a good way you could react to this situation. Describe a poor way to react to this.

You slip on the ice or mud outside on the playground during recess. It hurts and you are muddy and start to cry. Other kids start laughing at you. Tell me one good way to react to this situation. Give me an example of something you shouldn't do in this situation.

You want to ask a new friend to come over and play at your house after school. Demonstrate how you would ask this friend to play. Demonstrate something you should not say.

You ask a friend to play at your house and they tell you that they are not allowed to play at your house because their parent does not know your parent. It makes you feel sad. What are two things you could do or say? What are two things you should not say?

By Amy Covington Werrett, Washington County School District, Feb. 2010

